Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The delivery bond in this matter was declared breached by the District Director, Harlingen, Texas. A subsequent appeal was dismissed by the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO). The matter is now before the AAO on a motion to reconsider. The motion will be granted. The decision of the Administrative Appeals Office will be affirmed.

The record indicates that on August 30, 2000, the obligor posted a $3,500 bond conditioned for the delivery of the above referenced alien. A Notice to Deliver Alien (Form I-340) dated April 12, 2002, was sent to the obligor via certified mail, return receipt requested. The notice demanded the bonded alien's surrender to the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), now the Bureau of Immigration and Customs Enforcement (BICE) at 10:00 a.m. on May 13, 2002, at [REDACTED]. The obligor failed to present the alien, and the alien failed to appear as required. On June 3, 2002, the district director informed the obligor that the delivery bond had been breached.

On motion, counsel argues that the BICE has lost detention authority over the alien as a result of the alien's eligibility for, and possible grant of, Temporary Protected Status (TPS).

Temporary Protected Status is by definition a temporary status for certain qualifying aliens from designated countries. At the expiration of a validly granted TPS period, absent some further change of the alien's status, the alien will be required to depart the United States. Under the terms of the bond contract, the BICE has the responsibility to maintain the bond to insure the alien's ultimate departure from the United States. Pursuant to part (G) of the bond contract, the delivery bond remains in effect until removal proceedings are finally terminated or the alien is actually accepted for removal.

Counsel asserts that either the BICE or EOIR would be the logical agency through which the Attorney General, now the Secretary, Department of Homeland Security (Secretary), would give written notice of eligibility to all aliens eligible to apply for TPS. Counsel cites section 244(a)(3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act).

Section 244(a)(3) of the Act provides for notice to aliens of their eligibility for Temporary Protected Status in a form and language that the alien can understand. The Bureau has widely publicized the eligibility criteria for each TPS program, both in English and in the native language of the designated country, e.g. Spanish for Nicaragua, Honduras and El Salvador. This satisfies the notice requirement of the Act.

On motion, counsel further argues that the immigration judge administratively closed this case; however, BICE let it sit idle for fourteen months before calling the alien in for an interview. Counsel contends that such a lengthy period of inactivity makes it virtually impossible for a bond obligor to comply with a surrender demand.

As previously mentioned in the AAO's decision dated August 30, 2002, the alien's case was administratively closed by the immigration judge on March 27, 2001. Administrative closing of a case does not result in a final order. It is merely an administrative convenience that allows the removal of cases from the calendar in appropriate situations. See Matter of Gutierrez-Lopez, 21 I&N Dec. 479 (BIA 1996).

The obligor is bound by the terms of the bond contract to surrender the alien upon each and every written request until removal proceedings are finally terminated, or until the alien is actually accepted for detention or removal.

Under the provisions of the Immigration Bond Form I-352, the obligor agrees to produce the alien upon demand until: (1) exclusion/deportation/removal proceedings are finally terminated; (2) the alien is accepted by the BICE for detention or deportation/removal; or (3) the bond is canceled for some other reason. The obligor is relieved of its contractual responsibility to deliver the alien only if one of these enumerated circumstances has occurred. As the obligor has not shown any of the above occurrences, the bond breach resulting from the obligor's failure to produce the alien on March 6, 2002 is valid.

The decisions of the district director and the AAO will not be disturbed.

ORDER: The motion to reconsider is granted. The decision of the Administrative Appeals Office dated August 30, 2002 is affirmed.
